

Cornwall Croquet Club Update - 20th July 2023

Dear All,

We are well into July now and the club competitions are coming thick and fast. Recently we held the Level Play GC Singles competition which was won by Felicity Owen. Just a week later came the Level Play GC Doubles competition, again won by Felicity ably partnered by Fiona Russell.

So, what next? The GC Knockout is well underway and soon we will be hearing about the Faith, Hoop & Hilarity Fun Day on Sunday 30th July, followed a week later by the Golf Handicap Singles on Monday 7th and, depending upon entry numbers, Tuesday 8th August.

Thinking of entries, it has to be said that only 6 members entered the Singles Level Play and 6 the Doubles Level Play, which I found to be quite disappointing. Why is this happening? Are members not interested in club competitions? Is the entry fee too high or do members miss the entry deadline? So, by way of a reminder, you have 4 more days (24th July) to enter the handicap singles and 17 more to enter the handicap doubles. Let's see a few more entries for these!

All the above refers to golf croquet competitions but there are still some AC competitions you could enter. A few members have been benefitting from coaching in AC this season and there is one competition which will be ideal for them and within their abilities - the Jennings Trophy which is played on half lawns with bisques. There is also still time to enter the Wilson Salvors competition - a doubles competition open to all levels.

Hopefully I have whetted your appetite and we will have more entries for future competitions. The details and entry deadlines are in the clubhouse so do join in and have some fun!
